

Contents

Preface to the Third Edition	v
Acknowledgements	vii
Table of Cases	xv
Table of Legislation	xxiii

1	SETTING THE CONTEXT	1
1.	The development of consumer law and policy	1
2.	Consumer law, neo-liberalism and the social market	7
3.	Consumer influence in contemporary society: the politics of consumer protection	14
3.1	Explaining the existence of patterns of consumer regulation	15
4.	Markets, consumption and ideology	24
5.	The regional and global dimension	29
5.1	European consumer law and policy: establishing the ground rules of the internal market	29
5.2	Conceptions of the consumer in EU law	33
5.3	The competence of the EU in consumer policy	34
5.4	The move to maximal harmonisation; framework directives	36
6.	International consumer law	38
2	RATIONALES FOR CONSUMER LAW AND POLICY	41
1.	Neo-classical rationales: market failure	42
1.1	Assumptions of market failure analysis	47
2.	Information failures in consumer markets	49
2.1	Market structure and information failures	54
3.	The new policy paradigm: behavioural economics	56
3.1	Hyperbolic discounting	57
3.2	Over-optimism	58
3.3	Framing effects and status quo bias	58
3.4	Availability and anchoring	59
3.5	Information overload	59
3.6	Fairness	60
3.7	Emotions and the economy	60
3.8	Behavioural economics and regulators	61
3.9	Implications of behavioural economics for consumer law and policy	61

4.	Competition, information failures, bundling and switching costs	67
5.	Equity	70
5.1	Assuring consumer access to markets at reasonable prices: social exclusion and consumer markets	73
5.2	Consumer entitlements: a rights approach?	77
5.3	Community values	79
6.	Paternalism	81
7.	Sustainable consumption: ethical and fair trade	82

3 FRAMEWORKS AND FORMS OF REGULATION OF CONSUMER MARKETS 85

1.	The new regulation	85
2.	Regulation and governance	90
2.1	Self-regulation, guidance, best practices and benchmarking	92
2.2	Market norms and default rules	93
2.3	The consumer as a regulatory subject	95
2.4	Transnational consumer regulation	96
3.	Techniques of regulation	98
3.1	Information remedies	98
3.2	Reducing enforcement costs	103
3.3	Encouraging pre-commitment strategies	103
3.4	Standards	104
3.5	Individualised screening: licensing	105
3.6	Price controls	105
4.	Competition policy, economic regulation and consumer policy	105
5.	Adjudication and the regulatory role of the courts	105
5.1	The balance of public and private enforcement of consumer law	108
5.2	Public interest groups and agenda setting: supercomplaints	109
6.	Transnational regulation, the Internet and cross-border transactions	113
6.1	Establishing the ground rule of consumer Internet transactions	116
6.2	Formalities, information disclosure, cooling off and Internet consumer contracts	117
6.2	Consumer redress and the Internet	119
6.3	Enhancing reputational devices: trustmarks and reputation intermediaries	122
6.4	Online dispute resolution	124

4 THE REGULATION OF DECEPTIVE AND UNFAIR COMMERCIAL PRACTICES 127

1.	Constituting the market	127
1.1	The role of advertising	127
1.2	Commercial speech: a constitutional right to advertise?	130
2.	The common law ground rules	136

2.1	Puffing and its limits	137
2.2	Theories of recovery for manufacturers' advertising claims	139
3.	Unfair Commercial Practices Regulation	151
3.1	Institutional framework of trade practices regulation	154
4.	A new start? The EU Unfair Commercial Practices Directive and its implementation	156
4.1	The rationale for the UCPD	156
4.2	Maximal harmonisation and the UCPD	160
4.3	The scope of the Directive	163
4.4	The role of the general clause	164
5.	Implementation: the CPUR Regulations 2008	165
5.1	Interpreting the regulations	166
5.2	The standard of protection: the average consumer and the transactional decision test under the UCPD	166
6.	Judicial interpretation of the average consumer test	169
6.1	The vulnerable consumer	174
6.2	Material omissions	177
6.3	What is at stake in the average consumer test? A comparative note	178
6.4	Disclaimers, 'car clocking' and the CPUR regulations	181
6.5	Material omissions and invitations to purchase	183
7.	Misleading pricing: the search for market fairness	188
7.1	Why regulate misleading price claims?	188
7.2	The regulation of hi-lo pricing	191
8.	Aggressive commercial practices	195
9.	Prohibited practices: Schedule 1	198
10.	'Cooling-off' periods in consumer transactions: a right to withdraw in consumer contracts?	199
10.1	Doorstep selling	200
10.2	Distance selling and cooling-off	206
10.3	Timeshares and cooling-off	208
10.4	Cooling-off periods and stimulating competitive markets: extended warranties	208
10.5	Rethinking cooling-off periods: a right to withdraw?	209

5

IMPLEMENTATION AND ENFORCEMENT OF UNFAIR COMMERCIAL PRACTICES LAW 213

1.	The structure of public enforcement of unfair commercial practices law in the UK	214
2.	Models of enforcement	218
3.	Methods of public enforcement	220
3.1	The old workhorse: the regulatory offence	221
4.	Administrative remedies	242
4.1	Enforcement orders	243
4.2	Administrative penalties	252

4.3	The enforceable undertaking	253
4.4	Adverse publicity: naming and shaming	254
4.5	Public power to obtain compensation and redress	255
4.6	Restorative justice orders	256
5.	The balance of public and private enforcement of unfair trading law	256
6.	Class and public-interest actions	262
6.1	Canadian experience of consumer class actions	271
7.	The role of self-regulatory organisations in enforcing unfair commercial practices law	274
7.1	Mandated self-regulation and co-regulation: the Advertising Standards Authority	276
7.2	Codes of practice	288
8.	Cross-border enforcement of unfair commercial practices law	292
6	STANDARD FORM CONSUMER CONTRACTS AND THE SEARCH FOR FAIRNESS	297
1.	Rationales for regulation	297
1.1	Inequality of bargaining power	297
1.2	Neo-classical economic analysis and standard-form contracts	300
1.3	Behavioural economics and standard-form contracts	302
1.4	Understanding the role of standard-form contracts in corporate relationships with consumers	303
2.	Regulatory techniques	305
2.1	Judicial control	305
3.	The OFT: developing an approach to unfair contract terms regulation: negotiation, litigation and 'high-impact cases'	317
3.1	Phase 1: change through negotiation	320
3.2	Assessing the initial performance of the OFT	326
4.	A new approach? Greater use of test and high-impact cases	330
4.1	Threatening action: credit card penalty charges	339
4.2	Bank charges	340
4.3	The OFT as bargaining agent for consumers	357
7	REGULATION OF CONSUMER CREDIT MARKETS	361
1.	The role of consumer credit in the economy	362
1.1	Consumer credit in the UK	364
1.2	Sub-prime and high-cost credit	367
1.3	Financial exclusion	373
2.	The costs and benefits of consumer credit	375
3.	Rationales for regulation of consumer credit markets	376
4.	The Consumer Credit Act 1974	380
4.1	Institutional structure of credit regulation	382
5.	Ex ante regulation: a safety model for credit regulation?	385
5.1	Ex ante regulation: the evolving experience of credit licensing	386

5.2	FSA approaches to regulation: the ‘treating customers fairly’ initiative	393
6.	Empowering the demand side of the market? Information remedies	410
6.1	Required disclosures: truth in lending	410
6.2	Post-contractual information	416
6.3	Formalities and the sanction of nullity: attacking agreements through heightened formalism	418
6.4	Early settlement and promoting competition	419
6.5	Reducing creditor costs: credit information, credit scoring and credit bureaux	420
7.	Responsibilising the consumer: financial literacy	424
8.	Responsible lending	426
9.	Regulating contract terms and credit relationships: relational contracting	432
9.1	Controlling discretion and reacting to changed circumstance	432
10.	Regulation of the price of credit: usury	437
10.1	Judicial control of credit terms: unfair credit relationships	440
11.	Ombudsmen: The Financial Ombudsman Service	448
11.1	Ombudsmen, the rule of law and norm development	454
12.	Over-indebtedness and regulation of credit default	467
12.1	Creditors’ remedies and consumer protection	469
12.2	The regulation of default	470
12.3	Controls on repossession.	481
13.	Restructuring and writing down consumer debts	490
13.1	Individual voluntary arrangements	491
13.2	Administration orders	492
13.3	Bankruptcy as a consumer remedy	493
13.4	The role of bankruptcy in contemporary society	495
14.	Institutional alternatives: expanding choice and access to affordable credit	498
14.1	Credit unions	498
14.2	The Social Fund	501
14.3	Harnessing the resources of mainstream finance	503

8 QUALITY REGULATION AND POST-PURCHASE QUALITY PROBLEMS

505

1.	Sources of quality problems: an economic perspective	505
1.1	The repeat-purchase mechanism, reputation and product quality	507
1.2	Complaints, legal rights and problem solving	508
2.	Consumer product warranties	512
3.	Private liability law	517
3.1	Correspondence with description	519
3.2	Satisfactory quality and fitness for particular purpose	521
3.3	Judicial standards in relation to high-value consumer products—automobiles and yachts	532

3.4	The structure of consumer remedies: designed for adjudication or bargaining?	542
3.5	Rejection rights outside the Sale of Goods Act	547
3.6	Manufacturers' legal liability to consumers for economic loss	549
3.7	Reducing consumer costs in quality disputes? Lemon laws	553
4.	Harnessing market gate-keepers for redress: connected-lenders' liability	553
5.	The regulation of product market quality: the case of used cars	563
6.	Services	566
6.1	Civil liability and service quality	567
6.2	Service performance and consumer bargaining power	571
6.3	Consumer damages	573
7.	Car servicing	576
9	PRODUCT SAFETY REGULATION	581
1.	Rationales and objectives: defining an acceptable social risk	582
1.1	Identification of product risks	588
2.	The development of consumer product safety regulation in the United Kingdom	588
2.1	Product safety standards	590
3.	Consumer safety and transnational market governance within the EU	593
3.1	The EU 'new approach' to standards and consumer product safety standardisation: free movement in a safe market	593
3.2	Representation of consumer interests on standardisation bodies	600
4.	Post-marketing surveillance and the enforcement of product safety standards	605
5.	Private liability law: product liability	609
5.1	Liability under the Consumer Protection Act 1987	610
	References	627
	Index	657